

beyond cliff seagulls
rock on reflected moonlight

Ogunquit, Maine

airplanes grounded
m...g...r...at...ing snowdrifts birds take off & alight

sleeping geese
on sheer ice mimic
sleek stones

-Winter-

splitting wood -
wedge of geese
descends

two plump cardinals - craggy apple tree's entire yield for the season butterfly boldly flits by, then is lost amid falling maple leaves

-Fall-

waves try & try & try to take in its bold beauty

Butterfly at the Coast

bird flees
blackberry bush - beak wide with fruit

cardinal at rest
upstages
red STOP sign

-Summer-

Please recycle to a friend.

FLOCK

COREY COOK

WWW.ORIGAMIPOEMS.COM

origamipoems@gmail.com

ALL PHOTOGRAPHS BY RACHAEL COOK

Origami Poetry Project™

FLOCK
BY COREY COOK © 2012

Grateful acknowledgment to the following print and online publications in which these poems first appeared: blackdahlia, Brevities, The Flask Review, Haiku Headlines, KuPoZine, The Oak, Pralaton and Red Poppy Review.

for HDC and ODC

-Spring-

Robin

orange orb roosts - snow bank
recedes

duck idles
in flooded field -
cars fly by

cardinal flourishes
amid red haze
of maple buds